

Dear Fellow-workers,

Ruth and I praise God for your love and your financial gifts to us and the Pensacola Hospitality House.

Praises:

- The barracks Bible studies have resumed, and I am leading a study in one of the barracks.
- I'm getting better sleep on the new adjustable bed. Thanks for praying about this.

Here are a few questions and statements Ruth and I have heard in the last couple of months. How would you respond to each one of them? Please pray we will have the wisdom to know how to give good answers to the questions and conversations we engage in as we minister to military men and women.

- What are the Apocryphal books?
- What is Truth?
- Is there a difference between killing a deer and a person?
- I want the chance to do some crazy stuff before I think about a relationship with God.
- Does it matter if I am religious?
- I tried Christianity, but now I'm trying Buddhism.

- I need to have a few beers before I can start a conversation with another person.
- What is adultery?
- I was confirmed when I was young, but I don't remember what religion it was.
- How can I help my schizophrenic dad?
- What is the Trinity?
- What does evangelical mean?
- What should I do about my girlfriend who won't talk to me?
- Would you teach me how to drive?
- My mom keeps telling me that she loves me, and I'm getting a little tired of it.
- I got dropped from my school.

The picture shows some of the women who come to the chapel morning service. Please pray that these godly women will impact the lives of the young military women who come to the chapel service.

As always, we love to hear from you and how God is working in and through you!

In Him,

Skip & Ruth Main
