NOVEMBER 29, 2021

Jay and I are having a season of thankfulness. We have seen God send His help and open doors for us to share the gospel and our lives at Peterson Space Force Base (formerly Peterson Air Force Base) during 2021.

DAY BY DAY

The chapel is our main hub for contacts and ministry on base. Jay is forever poking his head into offices, bringing in coffee, checking in with the chaplains and their stresses, or the worries of the other staff. Because he wants to know how he can pray or if there's a way he can be of help, they are quick to pull him aside to ask for prayer or advice or to meet for lunch. God uses Jay's "drop-in" kind of personality to let everyone know he really cares about them and will be there when they need him. He's in his sweet spot there.

My sweet spot has been tucking into the lives of military wives at the PWOC (Protestant Women of the Chapel) weekly Bible study. It's been a great avenue to get to know women. We pray together, grow deeper in Christ together, and sort out the difficult issues of life together. Jay says it's a perfect place for my "dive in deep" personality.

SPECIAL EVENTS

We're also thankful for special events that put extra fuel in our tanks along the way—things like traveling to another Cadence ministry near Ft. Hood, Texas, or Jay getting to speak at the National Day of Prayer on base, or Jay driving to Kansas to help craft a Spring 2022 mission team (coming here!) from our supporting church in Wichita.

TRIALS

Together we have faced some difficult health issues as well. In October 2020, my esophagus began to malfunction. This painful journey ended in esophageal surgery in August 2021. How thankful we are that God showed us such kindness through the military families we love. They prayed, brought meals, and were eager to stay connected, even when I was very sick. During those months, Jay also partially tore his Achilles tendon. Again, people were gracious and concerned as he limped around in his “boot” for weeks. We’re both doing very well now!

WALKING WITH US

We are very thankful that many of you have faithfully prayed for us through this year while having hardships of your own. In your praying and financial giving, we feel you walking alongside us in all that God is doing. It gives us courage!

Some of you have asked about our year-end needs, and how our support has fared through COVID-19. We are $4,000 behind for our budget year and are trusting God for four new monthly donors, or special year-end giving to cover the shortfall.

Thankfully yours,
Jerri (and Jay)
